Payola condoned?

An astonishing case of rationalizing away what is often called morality, is the case of the Monterey Fair Board and Manager George Wise's $1,000 gift from the Pop Festival management.

The board voted 4 to 3 not to fire Manager Wise. This was majority condonement of this handsome payola on top of his comfortable $12,500 annual salary.

He argued that he had worked many extra hours for the unbusiness-like Pop Festival promoters. They apparently needed a helping hand with practical details — in spite of the fact that they were smart enough to turn the huge profit of $220,000.

And in a belated gesture of thanks, the promoters sent Wise a check for $1,000 about a month after it was all over.

Questions nag the mind. Have other promoters also expressed appreciation tangibly? Where does public trust of officials fit in?

Assemblyman Alan Pattee, who as chairman of the Assembly Agricultural Committee which has a lot to say about fairs, said he was shocked to learn that the Pop Festival netted its promoters $220,000, while paying the Seventh Agricultural Association only $8,000 for use of the grounds.

Echoing a lot of other observers' reaction, Pattee added, "It is things like this that make it almost impossible for me to defend the actions and the interests of fair boards in the State Legislature."

Kids form the OK's

The pre-teen youngsters of Carmel Valley have been a busy group this past week and have come up with some worthwhile suggestions on things to keep themselves busy and out of trouble. The group first met last week, worked out ideas and then talked to adults who had signed up to give them assistance and guidance.

Thursday night a committee of the youngsters will present their ideas to the Carmel Valley Community Center Board at the annual meeting, at 8 p.m.

The ground work of a new youth group has started — the pre-teens have picked a name for themselves... the OK's... which means the Organized Kids... organized for constructive planning for a group that has previously been floating around without direction. We hope they meet with enthusiastic support.

PERSPECTIVE

TO THE EDITOR

Aid to hurt animals

Editor, The Outlook:

We wish to commend some very fine people who stopped to render aid to a dog hit by a car on Carmel Valley Road. It is so heartening to be able to report an incident such as this, for so often it is quite the opposite. The driver of the car doesn't bother to stop to render aid, nor does anyone else, even though it is a crime punishable by law to hit an animal and leave the scene without trying to help.

These people did all they could to help. The driver of the truck which hit the dog stopped immediately — in addition Mrs. Lois Robinson, Mr. Harrison Bidwell, driver of the Hayloft truck and Skip and Mike Marquard didn't hesitate a minute to pitch right in to aid the dog. Skip and Mike took the dog right to a veterinarian while the others tried to locate the owner which they were able to do after going from house to house in the area.

Prompt action like this can mean the difference between life and death for a possibly beloved pet — too often the animal not helped immediately and by the time it finally gets to a veterinarian precious minutes have been lost and the life cannot be saved.

If you do hit an animal — any animal wild or domestic, if you cannot render aid yourself, please call the SPCA, 375-3333 at any time day or night. You will have no further obligation and will have discharged full obligation.

Please clip out the following and put by your telephone or in the glove compartment of your car:

How about a bowling alley

Editor, The Outlook:

Everyone seems to be telling Mr. Bennett what to build on his commercial property. Here is another suggestion: How about a four-lane bowling alley, next to the Community Center land, with a small fee charged for onlookers!

Not only could the youth groups use it but it's about time we also think about our adults!

The Valley is blessed with fine "clubs" whose members so willingly come to the fore whenever they are asked to help on any project!

Also how about a weekly dance for the adults at the C.C., with the kind of music they like! Recorded music would be cheaper and more use of the C.C. would help pay off the mortgage!

Sincerely,
V.S.

P.S. Remark by a visitor: "We have never found people so friendly and so willing to work, as in this lovely little Valley!"

Thanks from carnival heads

Editor, The Outlook:

So many residents of the Valley (many of whom do not even have children in school) contributed in some way to the success of the Irish Carnival sponsored by the Tularcitos Parents Club. It would be impossible to write individual thank-you's so please in this way accept our sincere gratitude for your overwhelming support despite the deluge of "Irish Mist!"

The Rhyming Philosopher

You may win awards from nations
And achieve the highest stations,
You may even be enshrined in halls of fame.
Though it seems the world admires you
And most ev'ry girl desires you
Still there's always some won't like you, just the same.

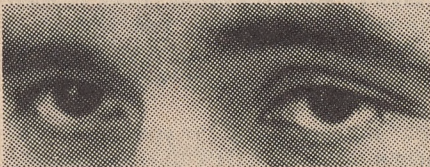

You excel in sports or letters
And acknowledge none as betters,
Or your voice sells records fast as you can wink.
You may even be a hero,
But on some counts you get zero
For there's just as many people think you stink!

These are facts so why not face them,
Goals are made so we can chase them,
But we can't expect support from ev'ry side.
There'll be lots of folks to bait us
And amazing lots to hate us
Since you can't please everybody, though you tried.

So whatever field you work in
Keep on going, never shirkin'
And be happy when you win each minor gain.
Make each day a new revival
And be glad for your survival:

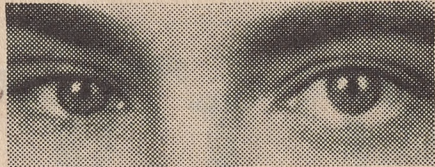

We appreciate the sunshine after rain.

Prize winners galore at the Irish Carnival

That Carmel Valley is filled with talented, creative people was evident at the St. Patrick's Day Carnival at Tularcitos where judges were faced with a monumental task.

The "Cake Walk," which has always been a popular portion of the Tularcitos benefit, became competitive this year with the addition of a cake decorating contest.

The confectionary works of art were judged by Mrs. Al Parker, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Bettie O'Neal who awarded first place to Tegan Speiser, for Mrs. Mervine's 6th grade; second place to Mrs. Edwin McCurry for Mr. Pomeroy's 6th; third place went to Mrs. George Lockwood for Mrs. Sanderg's first grade.

Mrs. Richard Kern and Mrs. Patricia DeAmaral, chairmen in charge of the cake walk, report a record breaking $207 was made on the cake walk plus $55 from the sale of cupcakes whose chairman was Mrs. Don Draper, plus $57.88 from the Bingo game where cakes were awarded as prizes by co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Allaire and Mr. and Mrs. Don Weber.

A booth-decorating contest was also held this year with $15, $10 and $5 awarded to the home-room for which the booth was competing. Judges Tom Valpey, John Cunningham, and Al Parker gave the first place ribbon to Mr. and Mrs. John Senger for their fortune telling tent for Mrs. Mervine's 6th grade; second to Mr. and Mrs. J. Longfellow and Mrs. J. Martin for the Ape Cork booth for Mr. Hoover's fourth; third place went to Mrs. Kirk Gayman for the ring toss sponsored by Mrs. Wilson's afternoon kindergarten.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baker were in charge of the felt pen drawing contest.

Alfred Thieme, a sixth grade student, won the coveted skate board with his handsome sketch of an eagle.

Climax of the entire carnival was during the dinner when the bicycles were awarded. Suspense had mounted during the weeks in which the bikes hung in the multi-purpose room until the names of Mrs. Paul Nielsen, winner of the boy's bicycle, and Mrs. Andrew Wolfe, winner of the girl's bicycle, were announced.

New garden shop opens at Mid-Valley Center

A brand new shop, "The Tiki Home and Garden," is opening Saturday at Carmel Valley Shopping Center. It will offer garden supplies, home decors, plants, artificial flowers, etc.

Don and Hazel Hickman, owners and managers, have purchased a home on Del Rio Road, Carmel Valley.

He was with the John Bean Division of FMC, San Jose, as production planning manager for the past 20 years, and was a member of the Society for Advancement of Management.

The Hickmans are both ardent golf fans and raise orchids as a hobby. Mr. Hickman is a former vice president of the Blackberry Farm Men's Golf Club and has been very active in Junior Achievement.

He is a World War II veteran, serving in the South Pacific.

"I was impressed by the friendly people, the beautiful climate and the way of life people enjoy in Carmel Valley," Mr. Hickman commented. "We are looking forward to becoming acquainted and serving the people of the Valley."

The Fidelity Club sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will meet April 4 at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall for a covered dish dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Loring Warner are chairmen in charge of the supper.

Anyone having questions concerning which dishes to bring may contact Mrs. Paul Edwards, telephone chairman, at 659-2815.

If you have not given a photo of yourself to Mrs. Hughes, you are urged to peruse the family album and be sure that she has one before the evening of the fourth of April.

Members are also asked to bring pencils along with their table service.

Sierra Club

Members of the Sierra Club have just received annual ballots for election of five directors. The ballot also contains six proposals for amending the club by-laws.

The proposals which in effect are initiative measures, involve considerable complexity. Because of this, Ventana Chapter has scheduled a members' meeting for Thursday, March 28, Carmel High School music room, 7:30 p.m.

Members are urged to hold their voting pending clarification and discussion at this meeting which takes the place of the usual monthly conservation committee meeting.

Rudd Crawford, Chapter chairman, will preside. Members familiar with the proposals will present information and answer questions.

Parents Without Partners

Problem-solving through self-hypnosis will be explored by members of Parents Without Partners at the group's general meeting on Thursday, March 28, at 8 p.m. in the Monterey Youth Center, El Estero Park. Interested parties are invited to attend.

Dr. Peter H.C. Mutke, Carmel physician and surgeon, is scheduled to lead this discussion of the controversial hypnotherapy approach to certain physical and psychological problems.

Women's Democratic Club

Dr. Earl F. Cheit, executive vice chancellor of University of California, Berkeley, will speak at a luncheon for the Carmel Women's Democratic Club at the La Playa Hotel March 29 noon. Cost $2.75. Reservations: Mrs. A.J. Carlson, 624-5105. Rafferty's policies will be aired and a question and answer period will follow.

BAZAAR DONATIONS

Women with articles to donate or time to give a little help in setting up the Carmel Women Demo's bazaar in the Sunset Center, are asked to come any time after 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 3, by Co-chairmen Mrs. Maureen Davis and Helena Cox.

The affair will start at 10 a.m., April 4, and a home-baked ham luncheon will be served at noon.

Articles for the "farmer's market" (canned goods, home-made or store-bought and potted plants) are still needed. And Mrs. A. Boyd Mewborn (624-7335) in charge of new and used clothing can do with some help.

Kiwanis Club

The threat of a communications breakdown between adults and juveniles was cited by Rev. Jim Brock of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in a talk to Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club last week Tuesday at Los Laureles Lodge.

Teen-agers need acceptance and reassurance of self-worth, he said. Their mixture of dependence and the urge for independence can be a frightening experience, Rev. Brock added.

"Stop playing parent and come on like an adult," he suggested. "Their biggest gripe is that we're so materialistic - that we love things and use people, instead of loving people."

ANNOUNCEMENT

This Thursday is final closing for listings on the Carmel Valley map published by Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club and produced by The Outlook. Any business wishing to be included on the map should phone The Outlook by Thursday.

New Valleyite is from Switzerland

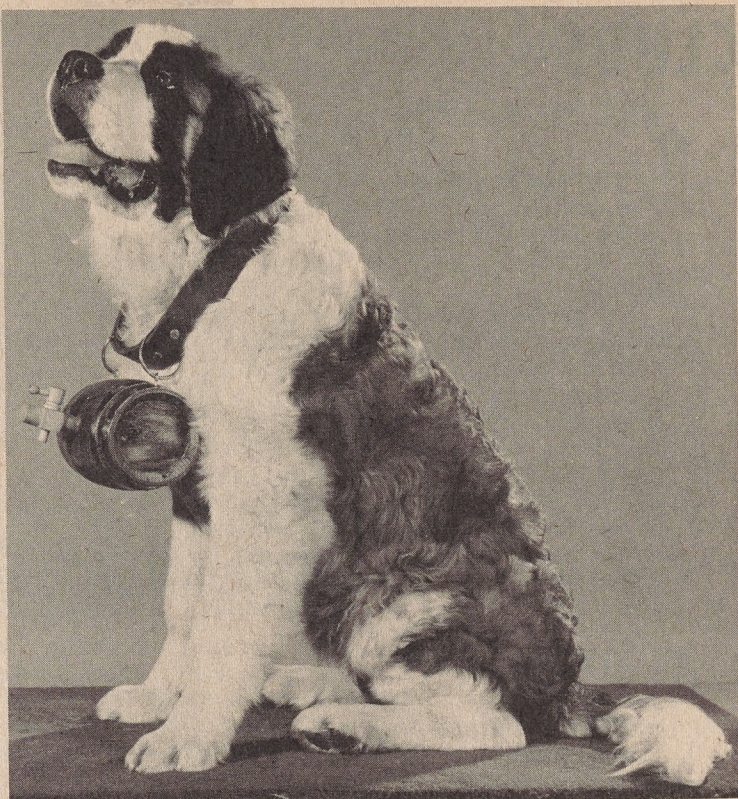

Pitta Von Sauliamt recently arrived at the Hancpol home on Carmel Valley Road after a flight in, on TWA, from Ottembach, Switzerland.

She will be a most attractive addition with her pretty red hair and Linda Hancpol expects to make some money from her services as well.

Pitta is the new Saint Bernard puppy which Linda purchased in Switzerland. Elsie Weilenmann picked her out and made arrangements for shopping the dog when she was in Europe recently.

Pitta's family is a famous one. He grandfather saved 22 lives in the Alps, and her grandmother is an International Grand Champion, having won in seven international shows.

Welcome to the new Valley resident. We hope the mild climate doesn't throw her.

PITTA VON SAULIAMT

Middle and high school may switch places

At an adjourned meeting of the Carmel Board of Education last week further discussion centered on the school housing issue.

Carmel High School which was designed to hold a maximum of 1,000 students and which now has over 900 was the main topic.

The firm of Keeble and Roda, architects, had been hired by the board to do a feasibility study on the high school on the basis of a 1,500 student enrollment in the future to determine if adequate expansion would be not only possible but practical.

In their report, they stated that Carmel High School could not accommodate that number of pupils. The decision was based on four points.

1) Out of the 27 acre site only 22 acres are useable and to introduce additional buildings would seriously cut down the athletic fields and physical education facilities.

2) There would not be adequate room for parking for that number of students.

3) Additional housing would have to be in the form of two story buildings in order to achieve adequate room and this would destroy the entire architectural theme of the present high school complex.

4) The additional buildings would not be in proper relationship to the rest of the buildings.

CARMEL MIDDLE SCHOOL

A second study involved what is presently the Middle School on the Carmel Valley Road. Originally planned as a high school, the changeover has never taken place. This study stressed three points.

1) Middle School was designed as a high school to fit the needs of such.

2) There is adequate land for a great deal of expansion, plus parking and physical education facilities.

3) All of the 40-plus acre site is usable, being flat land.

On the basis of the study, the Board of Trustees had two options.

1) Leave the high school as it is and initiate steps toward the purchase of a new site for a second high school. However, they felt that the problem of the cost of land plus the fact that there would be two undersized high schools, before the need for an additional school, tended to discount this solution.

2) The board felt that ultimately, within the next two or three years, the high school should be transferred to the present Middle School and additions built to accommodate the increased student load.

The present Middle School would be moved to the high school with a second Middle School planned for the 20 acre Scarlett Road site in the very near future.

Competitive sports such as football would still be played in the high school stadium, so that this facility would not be duplicated, according to Supt. Harris Taylor. Eventually, a second swimming pool would probably be constructed at the new high school location.

The school district already owns the Scarlett Road site which is just east of Farm Center on the level meadow below the road so that it would be more feasible to use this for a second Middle School. Present enrollment at Carmel Middle School is already about 800, a number which does not include fifth and sixth graders from Tularcitos. In only a short time, the four Middle School grades would also be taxing the capacity of the present high school plant.

Thriller opens this weekend at Studio Theatre-Restaurant

"Wait Until Dark," opening Friday at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, will star Diane Hall as Susy, a blind young wife terrorized by three desperate criminals.

A trio bent on recovering a cache of heroin traced to Susy's apartment are Gresh Ivey, Rick Poe and Don Osborn. Ivey, a lieutenant commander at the Navy Postgraduate School, and Poe, an officer at Fort Ord, have both acted extensively in other parts of the country. Osborn is also the play's director. Miss Hall played in the Studio's production of "The Little Foxes" last season.

Allison Faul, a student in Marcia Hovick's children's classes of the Community Theatre, appears as Susy's young friend; and Bill Wells in the part of the blind girl's husband, draws on experience in community theatre in Monroe, La.

Jim Sweeney and Rick Wolf, production assistant and stage manager, also appear as policemen in the final climactic scene. Sweeney has played in "The Fantasticks" and Wolf just finished a role in "Generation."

Playwright Frederick Knott is also the author of "Dial 'M' for Murder," the chilling drama that was such a hit as a movie and play some years back. "Wait Until Dark" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through early May.

Circle director Norman McPhee praised at farewell party

"He'll be a hard act to follow," declared William Scholefield, president of the board of governors of the Community Theatre at a farewell party for Norman McPhee and his wife, Carol, at the La Playa Hotel Thursday night.

Scholefield went on to praise

McPhee responded by stating, "A large part of my heart be-

Robert Heater, a vice-president of the theatre board and one of the Circle's principal actors, was M.C. at the dinner which was attended by many members of the staff, board members, actors and friends of the Community Theatre.

Play review

Standing ovation at MPC's Othello

John Hancock, a young Negro with much acting talent and a wonderful bass speaking voice, deserved and got a standing ovation for his stunning portrayal of "Othello" in Shakespeare's tragic drama at the Monterey Peninsula College last weekend. The MPC Players will repeat their production this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in their Little Theater on Campus.

The role of Iago is also in very good hands with Nick Hovick filling the shoes of this arch villain with his customary dash and skill.

Hancock's "Othello" is so compelling he commands the audience's whole attention whenever he is on stage, but it is Hovick's "Iago," a long and difficult part, that sustains the play's action throughout.

Wendy Grissim is a lovely Desdemona. She also reveals a sweet and pure singing voice when she does a touching little ballad just before the chilling third act's bloody climax.

Sylvia Razy is good as Emilia, Iago's bullied wife. Both young women have developed remarkable as actresses since we saw them last fall in "The Miser."

Albee play to open at Circle

Roberta Thaler of Carmel Valley will make her theatrical debut in Albee's "A Delicate Balance," next attraction at the Circle Theatre when it opens Friday evening under the direction of Norman McPhee, managing director of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula.

Gertrude Chappell will portray "Agnes," an elegant wife who fears that any intruder into her household will upset the "delicate balance" of her family. With this play, Mrs. Chappell marks her 29th role with the Circle.

Bob Newcomb plays her husband, a retired man of wealth who must make a decision about shunting away two people who think their long friendship gives them the right to his help.

Miss Thaler has the highly dramatic role of their daughter who is bordering on emotional collapse because of the failure of her marriage.

Gloria Wheeler plays a wise sister-in-law and Mel Isenberger and Betty Hughes are the friends who come to the household for help.

Stage manager is Peg Miner with Ruth Jordan Allan working as production assistant.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

Bernard Laiolo

As a planning commissioner, Bernard Laiolo felt the biggest project was to keep Carmel the way it is.

He has been a resident and business owner in Carmel for the past 21 years and has been active in many phases of Carmel life.

In addition to youth activities related to his three sons as they grew up, he is a member of Carmel Rotary and the 20-40 Club. He is also on the board of governors of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula.

Between his own business knowledge gleaned from many years as owner of Village Electric and his term on the Planning Commission, Laiolo feels that he has a good insight into the needs of Carmel.

In the Planning Commission he has been vitally concerned with the actual control of new buildings both in size and design combined with the compatibility to the site.

He stresses the importance of cooperation and understanding between the councilmen in solving the problems of Carmel.

Candidates for Carmel City Council

Frank Falge

"Keep Carmel — Carmel," is the pledge and slogan of Frank Falge. As a retired businessman, he feels he has the time necessary to fulfill this pledge, and having lived in Carmel for eight years, he has the interest to retain Carmel as it is. He has been a property owner for the past 18 years.

Falge is a member of the Cultural Commission and urged approval of the A-2 special zoning for Sunset Center to keep it in compliance with its purpose as a cultural center. He wishes to retain the north parking lot for purely Sunset purposes and to beautify and improve the recreational facilities such as shuffleboard, volleyball, tennis, etc.

He also supports the ballot measure #1 to prevent further expansion of non-conforming inns and motels in the R-1 districts.

He desires to retain the city control and operation of Sunset Center and suggests establishing a suitable percent of hostelry tax money for both Sunset and the Forest Theatre.

Further development of the Forest Theatre by beautifying and providing needed facilities for storage and parking are also urged by Falge.

He stresses cooperation within the council on Carmel matters, and with other cities of the Monterey Peninsula in respect to air and water pollution problems.

With special consideration for those citizens living on fixed incomes in Carmel he pledges to operate an efficient city government, holding taxes to the minimum.

Fenn Horton Jr.

Fenn Horton, candidate for Carmel councilman, has not been a Carmel resident very long, although he has been living on the Peninsula for the past four years.

"I propose no world shaking projects but first of all wish to figure out what the majority of Carmel citizens want to accomplish in the city," he said. "It is the responsibility of council members to do this and only in cases where I am unable to figure out what is the will of the citizens, can I make my own predilection on what to do," he added.

On the use of Sunset Center, he feels the answer lies somewhere in between two extremes. Sunset could be turned over to commercial enterprises and generate income for the city in tourist services, shops, etc., but he is not at all sure that the majority of voters in Carmel would want to give up Sunset just to save the tax money.

The city could subsidize artists, musicians, composers, etc., pay them to teach classes and run Sunset at a substantial loss, but preserve it completely for the arts. But he is not sure that the people of Carmel would be willing to back the loss. So he feels the course is in between.

Horton is an economist and professor in business administration and economics at the Navy Postgraduate School, and holds a Ph.D degree.

He and his wife, Joan, have three children, two of whom are in Carmel High School and one who is in Middle School.

Both Horton and his wife have been active in little theatre in both the Forest Theater and at the Navy school.

As a family, they enjoy the beauty of Carmel and would like to maintain it.

Election is Tuesday, April 9

A Candidate's Night will be held on Thursday, April 4, in Sunset Auditorium, at 7:30 p.m. There will be five minute talks and a question and answer period.

Carl Bosholm

Carl Bosholm would like to see advisory council formed of all groups in Carmel to work with the City Council in matters of need and urgency. This would include everything from parking problems to cleaning up the beaches and use of Sunset.

He has always felt that the City of Carmel has claimed itself to be a residential area, but he feels there has been little positive action for the citizenry of Carmel. Since it is such an area for retired persons they should be given more consideration...including providing a recreational area for senior citizens.

Considerable money has been spent by previous councils, he feels, with not enough study on tax relief measures.

He supports the council in its stand on the Motel and Sunset ordinances.

Bosholm has been a resident of Carmel for the past 14 years. His business experience in the city has included real estate and motel owner (presently the Svengard Motel), printing equipment salesman and insurance. He has been married for 41 years and has two children and six grandchildren.

Active in civic affairs, Bosholm has been field director for the American Red Cross, president of the Carmel Motel Association, and the Carmel Business Association, and active in Boy Scouts and YMCA.

He stresses that he is not a politician...and will not make promises which may or may not come true, but if elected he is anxious to work with the other members of the council to see how much can be accomplished in the coming sessions.

MORE OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

Eben Whittlesey

Eben Whittlesey, who is running for re-election on the City Council has been in law practice in Carmel for the past 26 years. His views on the city have been formulated over a long period of living and working here.

Carmel today faces problems not essentially different from those of the past, Whittlesey feels, but because of the growth of the tourist industry and increasing population in adjacent areas, the need for a solution is more imperative.

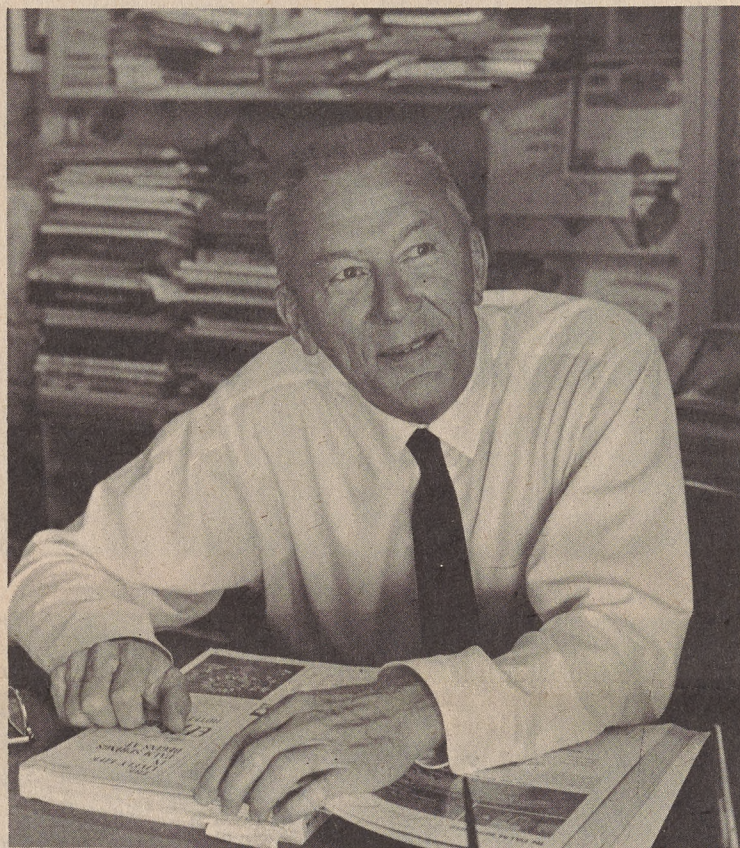

Cost of government inevitably increases, while the adoption of effective controls over zoning, building standards, aesthetics and business activities, compels expansion of city services.

If we are to meet these needs and keep Carmel a unique and attractive residential community, the services of experienced councilmen are required.

"My 26 years' residence and eight years' service on the Carmel City Council, including two years as mayor, are part of my qualification for re-election," he stated.

Whittlesey also urges a "yes" vote on the ballot measures for the zoning of Sunset Center and control of existing motels in the residential district.

Gunnar Norberg

"We do not need any new ordinance to do the proper thing about the motels in residential areas or the zoning of Sunset Center," states Gunnar Norberg, who is running for reelection to the Carmel City Council.

"In effect what we are doing by approving the disputed motel ordinance is to give these motel owners an unlimited bag of sugar candy," he added, "instead of holding over their heads the idea of any punishment for violating existing laws."

He feels that there is plenty of law in the municipal code under section 1315 to take care of any and all non-conforming uses such as those motels, and plenty of enforcement provided in section 1316.

He feels it is perfectly senseless to say we need any new ordinance simply to continue to have the Bach Festival, Monterey County Symphony, the Carmel Music Society, or any number of other cultural entities. The reason for this is double. First of all, every public school in the state of California has to provide for what are called civic center uses. In fact, there is a separate provision for a separate tax in the state education code for school boards to use in providing for these uses.

Basically, this kind of use of the auditorium for cultural activities, playground for play purposes, gymnasium for athletic uses, kitchen and cafeteria for social purposes, and of school rooms for club meetings, can continue "indefinitely" under the non-conforming provisions of 1315 of the municipal code just as non-conforming motels can continue "indefinitely" under the same section.

"The fact of the matter is that it is only because of certain kinds of commercial activities now at Sunset or considered for the future of Sunset that any kind of rezoning of any sort is even remotely needed. But those activities which could include parking lots, multiple level parking garages, stores or restaurants and sales galleries, are not what Sunset was bought by the voters for.

"Instead what it was bought for was Carmel's own special kind of civic center. This I believe means that it should be used for city offices, for playground purposes, for social purposes, for athletic purposes, and for any and all appropriate community activities.

"Therefore it is my firm belief that the people of Carmel, when they go to the polls, April 9, should vote a definite and decisive NO against both the motel and Sunset ordinances, if they want to retain for any posterity the treasured character and feel of Carmel which has made it world renowned."

It may be consoling to "up tight" adults in days of dubious manners and cleanliness, that there is a group of fifth, sixth and seventh graders in Carmel, Pebble Beach, the Valley... and Big Sur, who are busily engaged in learning the social niceties... and how to dance... straight style.

More important than that, the kids enjoy their nights at Cotillion. Even the boys seem to be having fun as they one, two, three slide... at the Beach Club or Del Monte Lodge.

For the past eight years, Mrs. George Selvig (Lilli) has taught ballroom dancing to the youngsters in the Carmel schools. Not as a school project, but as an enterprise of her own. Formerly she had two cotillions, one in Carmel Valley and one in Pebble Beach. That was when her husband, George, was teaching at Tularcitos School and they lived in Robles del Rio. When George transferred to Captain Cooper School in Big Sur, where he is now principal, Lilli consolidated the classes in town.

Lilli is a former member of the Danish Royal Ballet and has taught both ballet and ballroom dancing professionally. However, the cotillion classes are to benefit a worthy cause.

She is assisted by a committee of mothers who help organize the youngsters and the fee charged for the series of lessons is donated to the Pediatric Fund of Community Hospital. Over the past few years over $10,000 has been donated.

This year Mrs. Arthur Hatley Jr. was the mother in charge. Next year's chairman is Mrs. Marcus Bommersbach.

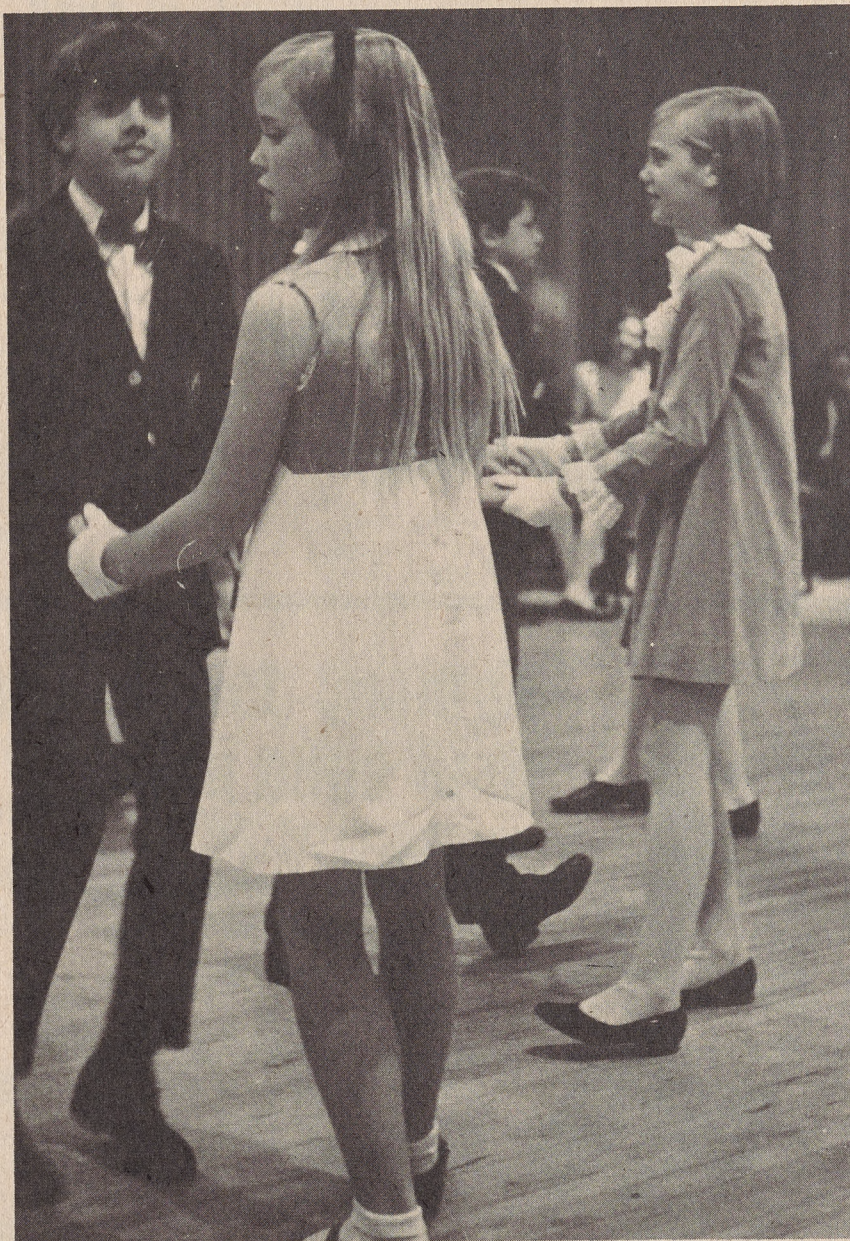

Accent is on a combination of learning the basic dance steps, overcoming natural reticence to participate in social dancing, and the basics of etiquette.

Young ladies are required to wear white gloves and the young gentlemen must wear jackets, tie and white shirts. Girls learn to graciously accept the offer of a dance. Boys learn to take a girl back to her seat after a dance. Refreshments are served and the group also has several simple dinner parties during the year where table manners are stressed.

The classes for the different grade levels are held at different times, the fifth graders arriving at 5 p.m. for an hour, then sixth at 6:15 and seventh graders at 7:30. About 100 youngsters are usually involved.

"By 8:30 I'm ready to be carried to my car," Lilli laughed.

On the final night, parents are invited to the party and all grades join in a combined class to show Mom and Dad what they have learned. Last week marked the "graduation" and the 1967-68 Cotillion classes hosted their parents... and even danced with them.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

Cocktails and a dinner party were planned on St. Patrick's Day by Capt. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Bernard J. Cassidy honoring the seventy-fifth birthday of their special friend, Mrs. Marie Hall. Dinner at Lou's Casa Carmela was preceded by cocktails at the Cassidy home on Country Club Dr.

Clever Irish leprechauns made by Mrs. Edwin McCurry decorating the Casa's dining room were reflected in the candlelight from the clever place-cards (birthday cards with an attached candle) which, when lighted, were a signal for the guests to sing the traditional "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Hall.

Among those honoring the celebrant were her daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter, Maj. and Mrs. Frank Blasuis and Renee of Carmel, John Piaseca, Col. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Roland Brandly, Pebble Beach, Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Garry Anloff, Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gonzelmann, Seaside, Maj. and Mrs. Guy Stohr, Carmel, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Willard Shope, Pebble Beach, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Orville Ophaug, Pacific Grove, Maj. and Mrs. Royce Carbaugh, Salinas, Maj. (USA ret.) and Mrs. D.L. Coleman, Carmel Valley, Capt. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Pebble Beach, Maj. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Charles Felder, Carmel, Col. and Mrs. Burkett Reynolds, Pebble Beach, Col. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Adolph Friedenthal, Carmel Valley, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Weldon McBee, Monterey, Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. Jerry Davis, Monterey, and Sgt. and Mrs. Harry Kutzbach of Seaside.

CHAPEL GUILD PARTY

Designs of hearts, clubs, diamonds and spades were cleverly used in the decor of the benefit bridge and canasta party last week at the Rancho Rd. home of Mrs. Donald Draper. Kaye and Don's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Draper, used white primrose plants trimmed with miniature playing cards as centerpieces for each table and later awarded them as table prizes.

Tallies with miniature playing card covers, white place mats and napkins with designs of the four suits of cards all combined to make what many of the 28 ladies who attended described as the prettiest party ever planned by the Community Chapel Guild.

Mrs. Doris Bundgard was high winner in bridge, the second high went to Mrs. Dorothy Waggegan. Mrs. Ida Duncan won the honors for canasta. Individual table prizes were taken home by Mrs. Ruth Wade, Mrs. Sylvia Sweet, Mrs. Margaret Brown, Mrs. Ida Duncan, Miss Barbara Wade, and Mrs. Margaret Moore. A guest welcomed from Carmel was Mrs. Henrietta Creighton.

The April party is planned for April 16 at the Fellowship Hall. Co-hostesses planning the affair are Mrs. Doris Bundgard and Mrs. Irma Bolgard. Ladies planning to attend are invited to phone Mrs. Irving Ollason, 372-3568.

HONOR ROLL

Carmel Valley received a share of scholastic honors for fall semester 1967 at Hartnell College thanks to the efforts of Kenneth Kline who was among students attaining a grade point average between 3.5 and 3.9.

TINY TOTS

Clever action prints of tiny tots from the Carmel Valley Parent Nursery School have been attracting a lot of attention at the Carmel Valley Library window where they are on display. Shots showing the children involved in field trips, music, dancing, dramatics, and playtime were taken by Rem Wolf and printed by Lorraine Jones.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Selma Rubens and her partner, Mrs. Penny Enlow, won first place in the duplicate bridge tournament held Tuesday evening at the Community Center by the members of the Valley Bridge Club. Col. (ret.) A.L. Friedenthal and Gary Belew were in second place. Third place honors were won by Mrs. Betty Leslie and Mrs. Mary Drobek.

SHE ATE A PIE

When Mrs. Clifford Bolgard was planning a birthday party recently, she phoned the guest of honor to ask her preference in birthday cakes and found instead that Mrs. Fred (Jenny) Clark really preferred pie... lemon meringue, to be exact! Since the wish of a NINETY-TWO year young celebrant carries the command of royalty, that is exactly what guests who arrived at the Bolgard home were served for dessert.

Wedgewood blue iris and fragrant yellow jonquils, used in the decor about the tables and rooms, were admired by Mrs. Elbert Wade, Mrs. Frank Graham, Mrs. Joseph Blacow, and Miss Barbara Wade.

GET WELL

Sincere get-well wishes to hospitalized Valleyites, Mrs. Margaret Mann, Miss Sara Oppenheimer and former Valley resident, Mr. Charles Hunt.

Oswald Godson as Desdemona's father, Ron Guillemette as Cassio and Conrad Selvig as Roderigo, acquit themselves well in important supporting roles.

MPC players in small parts, working smoothly and well under the direction of Morgan Stock are: James LeSage, Bob Aaron, Jeffrey Jennings, John Rousseau, Andrea Fernandez, Jerry Williams, Joe Nabozny, Dean Funk, Norman Fagan, Robert Sutherland, Sam Mercurio, David Stock, Robert Mitchell and Dick Smallwood.

Mr. Stock told us he has wanted to put on "Othello" ever since meeting Hancock several years ago when the young actor was a soldier at Fort Ord and took a small part in MPC's "Love's Labour's Lost." Now discharged after serving in Germany, Hancock is hoping to continue his career in drama and music. He was a music major at Wayne State U. in Detroit before joining the Army. —LSN

"SAD EYES," the dachsy-basset, needs gentle love; but the little sheltie-mix is ready to take on the world.

The SPCA has a variety of temperaments as well as sizes, shapes and colors in puppies, kittens, grown cats and dogs.

Trouble is you may want to take them all home when you visit the animal shelter at 2099 David, Monterey, any day between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. except Sunday and Thursday.

A NEW BABY

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Radowitz of Via Contenta who welcomed their second "keki" (child) whose middle name is "Kawika" (David) on March 8 at the Community Hospital. Master Steven Kawika Radowitz who weighed 7 lbs. 15 oz. was welcomed by his two-year-old sister, Tanya, and by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hara of Hilo, Hawaii

Vietnam withdrawal urged in talk before Newspaper Publishers

Admiral Arnold True (USN-ret.) urged U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, in a talk Friday night to the Central Coast Counties Unit of California Newspaper Publishers Association meeting in Santa Cruz.

Publisher F.K. Arthur of the Monterey Herald was elected president, to succeed Publisher Bill Norton of The Carmel Valley Outlook. Fred McPherson of The Santa Cruz Sentinel hosted the meeting, at which five $100 journalism scholarships were voted.

IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION

Admiral True declared that militarily the U.S. is in a practically impossible situation at the end of 7,000-mile supply lines and that this country would recover more good will from most of the world than we would lose in "face" if we withdrew our forces. The retired admiral, who is a rancher in the Santa Cruz mountains, is also professor of meteorology at San Jose State.

Asked how we could now get out of Vietnam, the speaker said that Pres. Johnson could do so if he desired. He admitted that Ho Chi Minh's Communists would probably take over all of Vietnam, but that it would be another Yugoslavia-type of Communist country, providing a buffer next to China.

Taiwan, the Philippine Islands, Indonesia and Australia, could be defended against Communist invasion by our Seventh Fleet, which even now has prevented China from taking Quemoy and Matsu, small islands a few hundred yards offshore from China, Admiral True said.

The fact that China now has nuclear weapons and in a very few years will have the means to deliver them at will, he said, makes it urgent that communication be established with China, including admitting China to the United Nations.

Admiral True added that he felt China would intervene before we succeeded in destroying North Vietnam completely, if the war continued indefinitely.

(his mother's birthplace) and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Radowitz of Birmingham, Mich.

CONDOLENCES

The many Valley friends of former resident, Capt. William Sellers were saddened to learn of his sudden death Feb. 27. Capt. Sellers, who was in charge of civil officers for the Monterey County Sheriff's Dept. was on the practice firing range at Toro Park when stricken with a heart attack.

Before moving to 587 El Camino Real North, Bill and his wife, Alice, made their home on West Carmel Valley Road across from the River Ranch. He was active in horsemen's associations and was instrumental in assisting Charles Nasson to set up the only legal practice range in the CV Fire Protection District where many youngsters and adults were instructed in the proper care and handling of firearms.

CV Women's Club Book Mart to be held on April 20

The second annual Book Mart to be sponsored by the Carmel Valley Women's Club will be held April 20 this year from 10-5 in front of the General Store. Co-chairmen of the event this year are Mrs. Robert Angell and Mrs. Howard Vail.

Anyone having books which they wish to donate may leave them at the Hoisington Real Estate office or phone Mrs. Adolph Friedenthal, 659-4434, Mrs. R.B. Stoney, 659-4579, or Mrs. Vail, 659-2587, and someone will be happy to call at your home for them.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. Douglas Forzani, Mrs. Gordon Harlander, Mrs. J. Warren Douglas, Mrs. Larry Cummings, Mrs. William Broderick, Mrs. W. Gordon Yates, Mrs. Norman Bundgard, and Mrs. Willoughby Moore, ex-officio.

His talk, open to the public without charge, is the fourth in the series, "Faculty World Travelers Present," sponsored by the Student International Relations Club.

Future slide-lectures will be given by MPC instructor Rosabelle Hamann and Mrs. L.W. Klene (Iran, April 19); MPC trustee Margaret Swigart (South Africa, May 3), art instructor Chester Smith (Egypt, May 17) and business instructor Fletcher Dutton (Yugoslavia, May 31).

Swimmers in 2 wins

Carmel varsity and lightweight swimming squads scored two victories each last week, and will travel to Santa Cruz High this Friday. They will meet Salinas here next Tuesday.

The varsity sank Alisal 70-25 Monday and edged Salinas by a single point Wednesday, 48-47. The lightweights won both their meets handily.

"They were fine team efforts," commented Coach Jim Agan. "The boys pulled together real well."

In both meets the 400-yard varsity freestyle relay team bested school records, turning in 3 minutes 56.3 seconds as its best. Relay swimmers include Gary Cohn, Troy Spindler, Bob Kutschbach and Ward Gillette.

Gary Cohn broke the one-minute barrier in the 100-yard freestyle against Seaside, improving his own record with 57.8 seconds.

A faculty Middle School volleyball team won the first two games Friday, 15-7 and 15-10, but ran out of steam to lose 10-13 to the students in the finale.

On the court for the faculty were Joe Broadman, Ken Weise, Tish Archer, Chris Christy, Clyde Klaumann, Neil Smith, Mrs. Milena Stokeman, Roland Schutt, Alan Oppenhuizen and Don Blakeman. Janet Hurley was referee.

Padre ball teams lose

Victory slipped just out of reach of the hard-playing Padre ball players Friday at King City, the varsity losing by a single run, 1-2, and the JV's, 9-12.

Carmel was scheduled to play Monterey there Tuesday and will meet Palma of Salinas Friday afternoon at 4.

Carmel varsity's only run was scored by Larry Warcken, after he was walked, stole second to third on a pass ball and came home on a wild pitch when Brink Harrison attempted to squeeze him home.

Relief pitcher Dan Artellan managed to get out of trouble with the bases loaded in both the 5th and 6th innings when the score remained tied 1-1.

Golfers lose close match to Seaside

Carmel High golfers took a close contest 8-7 against Seaside last week at Pebble Beach course.

The Padres meet Pacific Grove this Thursday.

Darryl Dawson won 3-0 against Seaside's Rick Davie in the big clash of the play.

Carmel High varsity track men shook off the under-dog prediction to down King City 71-63 Friday on the home field; it was the first win in 11 years. Padre lightweights lost 53-1/2 to 85-1/2.

Carmel travels to Salinas this Friday to meet Palma.

Gary Kelley tossed the discus for a new school record, 160-10 1/2.

The varsity relay team turned in a flashy time of 3:38.8, paced by anchor man Dan Dills, who had won the 440 and mile earlier.

Winning the long jump, the 100 and 220 was Cedric Weldon. First in the two-mile was Mike Lundblad in 10:28.8 and Greg Scott the 210 low hurdles.

Tennis squad splits matches

Carmel High tennis squad continues its rugged practice schedule with a match at Robert Louis Stevenson Friday.

Last week the Padre racquet men lost to Monterey 3-6, but took Seaside 6-3 the week before.

"Our boys are improving and coming along very well," declared Coach Harold Lippstreu.

Carmel will play Alisal on the home courts Thursday, April 4, in a final practice match, before opening league play.
